FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

2 PARK PLACE, CANTON, NEW YORK

REV. EARNEST EDW. EELLS, PASTOR

Dear Stew:

Thanks for the book you sent me. I read it with great interest and pleasure.

I think that John Christie of Wilmington, Del. has done something on a similar subject and vaguely remember his reading a paper before the Historical Society some years ago.

As I remember it there was a committee of Correspondance made up of the clerks and scribes of the Presbyteries and the Congregational Conferences to safeguard our religious liberties in colonial days, and they had some secret members in England, with their chief object to prevent the Episcopalians from getting a Bishop ordained for the Colonies.

Someone, I think it was Lowell, wrote a poem about the election sermon a minister preached on the day of the "earthquake" or "noonday darkness" or some phenomenon that made the legislators think the end of the world had come. He told them to go back to work and let the Lord find them working. A tradition in our family says it was someone named Eells that preached that one. I am not so sure. Election sermons as you annotate and analyze them have some real important meanings. You are doing a valuable thing in making those meanings apparent.

It was good to hear from you. I wish I could get to see you, and get to Princeton at graduation. Maybe I can.

Yours cordially,

Earnest.

P.S. A Mrs Charles Wright of Quevonta, now a member here, remembers you at Delhi; and wonders if you remember her and Charles.

My dear Dr. Robinson:-

Your letter seeking information about our Colonial Clergy came to our Church office last month and it has been turned over to ^{me} for a reply.

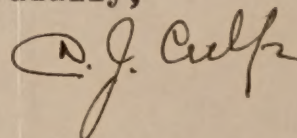

I am not sure that I can be of much help. I have just finished a sketch history of our Church, the 225th anniversary of which we will observe when we dedicate our new Church in November.

The most prominent Minister in the colonial period of our Church was Gilbert Tennent who became the first Pastor in 1726. We had some very prominent laymen who rendered services in that period.

You probable have that book "Log College" by Archibald Alexander in which the graduates of the College are well written up. They rendered a real service in Colonial times. I am sorry that I can not be of much help.

Miss Sarah A. G. Smith
Hist. Soc. of Penna. 1300 Locust St. Phila 7 Pa -

Dear Miss Smith

Can you help me with photos of some Anglican clergy? I hope you have copies &
Pages in books will be satisfactory in photostat form.
Photographs of portraits will do splendidly &

My daughter Mrs. David K. De Long is doing pen sketches from the pictures &

I need pictures of

Jacob Sushe

Francis Alison

~~Reed~~

Wm White

Thos Coombe

Wm Stringer

Wm Smith

Possibly

While I am thinking of these men in 1774 it does not matter too much ~~at~~ what age the picture reflects & White for instance was a mere youth in 1774 and a picture of him then would be most unlikely &
But as bishop, I should suppose there would be one

I am sending a copy of this letter to my daughter so she can call you or stop in.

Thank you -

Sincerely -

carbon to DeLong 214 S. Jessup St - Phila 7 to Guy S Klett. Pres. Hist Soc - Witherspoon Bunting Phila 7/19

Dear Guy

Most interesting - Ewing was in London in 1774.
I still don't have a picture of Alison x That book
Alec Mackie sent me lacks Alison's picture x
I am asking HSP x

I ~~think~~ should like a stat of that clipping on Ewing x

Any chance you have James Spots's sermons at Synod Meeting 1774 x or on Sunday Sept 4, 1774, as Congress was assembling x Some of the worthies went to hear him that day x

I find that the political slant of sermons is not always visible in the ms. I notice in the six or so I have of Geo Bufffield that the ms is his sermon notes x I think they left the observations to extempore production and only when they printed did they spell it out x Possibly the preacher took a look at the congregation first x Several delegates in the audience might easily spur a preacher to make an appropriate remark x See how often Mr. Sencowicz hears parsons speak or pray with reference to public affairs x

All the best
